

Iron County Register.

V. D. AKE, : : : : EDITOR.
VOLUME XV, NUMBER 18.

IRONTON, MO.,
THURSDAY, NOV. 17, 1881.

Judge Jno. L. Thomas has removed from Hillsboro to De Soto and his address will hereafter be modified accordingly. We trust he may have prosperity and long life in his new home.

We have received the first number of the Jefferson Watchman, published in Hillsboro, Mo., by Messrs. Smith & Wathen. It is a neat, bright, and new 7-column folio. As the proprietors go to work on business principles, and are soundly Democratic, we wish them abundant success.

The Star Route men have been released by the Court, the judge holding that proceeding against them by information was not lawful. The prosecuting attorney claims that the triumph of the thieves will be short-lived, for he will now proceed against them by indictment, and the question of the intervention of the statute of limitations will have to be determined by the court. We may safely conclude, for all that, that Brady and his pals are secure from justice.

Three of the parties—Brady, Schuster and Lee Whybark—have pleaded guilty in the land frauds cases. The charges against them are the forging of deeds and fraudulent conveyancing. The first of the three was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary, while sentence has been deferred in the cases of the other two. At the time of his arrest, Whybark was most emphatic in asserting his innocence. It is thought Schuster and Whybark will be used as witnesses to secure the conviction of other parties implicated.

Walker Peoples who has been confined in the Greenville jail, on charge of murder, escaped therefrom on the 5th inst., but was captured a short time after by a Mr. McCormack, of Poplar Bluff. McCormack, hearing of the escape and flight of the murderer, mounted a horse and pursued him. He overtook Peoples on the public highway, and captured him after a long and severe tussle, for both were armed, and the victory was not obtained until after the prisoner had been wounded and the captors the subject of several "close shaves."

The editor of the Post-Dispatch has been arrested for criminal libel against Kennett, the St. Louis Chief of Police, and Frank Bowman. The following paragraph contains the offending matter:

"We were pleased with the appointment of Mr. Kennett, and have tried to think well of him. He is young, he has borne a good name, and he has every incentive to follow an honorable career. We are willing to believe now that he has been led into this mistake by others, and that he is not wholly responsible. He has fallen into the hands of a knavish and malignant adviser (meaning and intending to be understood and mean the affiant, Frank J. Bowman), who is as unscrupulous as he is ignorant, and as vicious as he is cowardly. The depravity and cunning of this Newgate rat is visible throughout the whole dirty business. The methods are peculiarly his. The sooner the Chief of Police shakes this slimy creature away from his ear the better it will be for his fair name. Without good reputation, office, power, emoluments are as nothing, and Mr. Kennett is old enough to be aware of the fact."

Mr. Bowman is the "Newgate rat" referred to. The editor of the Post-Dispatch gave bond in the sum of $500, and claims the ability to prove all he has said against the prosecutors.

From a Summer Resident.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15, 1881.
Dear Friends of Ironton, Mo.—

I adopt this method of a happy greeting to you all, hoping it may prove equally pleasant to all of you.

Since my return to the city, my time has been as precious to me as Lycidas', the youthful Athenian, when he said his "race for the crown and palm were dearer to him than life itself."

It is not necessary to explain to you that I am a student, as you are already aware that this is my fourth year in these schools.

And to be a successful student in the St. Louis schools means diligent, incessant improvement of time and talents. Indeed, we get hardly enough exercise or recreation for the physical powers.

We are kept up, and encouraged in spirit, by the daily success we meet, and the hope of the crown of victory which lies just beyond every good, diligent student.

It matters not where we are studying, or what we are studying, if our object be to thoroughly qualify ourselves for better glorifying God, and thus exercising a more elevating influence upon those with whom we associate.

In the term elevation, I mean stimulating them to a more active exercise of the talents which have been bestowed upon them.

As we are taught through every cycle of time that man or mortals have existed, that talents are given of God, but success lies equal to every one.

If we will exercise diligence, perseverance, self-denial, improvement of time and opportunities, and trust in God.

Another beautiful feature in the wonderful economy of God's dealings with man, is this fact: it matters not whether we are born in the cottage or palace. The hand-maid of virtue and religion point out to everyone to come up higher in the scale of mortal elevation; and every young person who will lead a life of usefulness and happiness in the various places which God has placed before us.

Hoping to hear grand reports of your beautiful new school building, I must close by promising you shall hear from me again soon.

Yours, most truly,

ALBINA M.

Bismarck Happenings.

BY GEORGE.

HORACE COLMAN is the new messenger and errand boy at the depot.

Dr. Wilson, the celebrated Methodist divine of St. Louis, spent a few hours in town last Friday.

Mrs. TERRILL, wife of M. L. Terrill, of this place, is visiting friends and relatives at the Cape. She will remain several weeks.

Miss MATTIE MANTER, the accomplished daughter of our esteemed fellow citizen, C. T. Manter, is spending the winter in Jacksonville, Ill.

The building of the Union Protestant Church is in course of erection at this place. It is hoped it will be ready for occupancy by the first of the new year. The town is without a church at present, and needs one very much.

The boom of the shotgun and the crack of the rifle disturb what should be the calm of the Sabbath in this vicinity. A man may stand upon the railroad platform here and, almost any Sunday, count the reports of a score of guns within the space of a single hour. Is this not a violation of law—both human and divine? If so, whose is the duty to punish the offenders?

FRANK YATES and Bart Mitchell became involved in a difficulty Monday afternoon over a game of cards in Branton's saloon. It is said Yates attempted to shoot Mitchell with a shotgun, whereupon Mitchell drew his revolver and fired at Yates, the ball striking him in the left cheek and passing out just beneath the base of the skull. Dr. D. H. Miller was called and examined the wound, which he regards as dangerous but not necessarily a fatal one. Yates and Mitchell are both farmers, and reside in the country near Bismarck. Both have families, and it is said here each have been implicated in similar troubles in the past. No attempt was made to arrest Mitchell, so far as your contributor could learn.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertise of J. Monroe Taylor. This house has been established nearly 40 years, and their goods are celebrated for purity and strength. We would recommend a trial of their Gold Medal brands to all who desire superior cookery.

THE SUN. NEW YORK, 1882.

THE SUN for 1882 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, shining, as always, for big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic, depraved and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for mankind and womankind of every sort; but its genial warmth is for the good, while it pours hot discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1863 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrases of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and commenting upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of the Sun. It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the dozen years past has been modified and bettered by the force of the Sun's example.

The Sun of 1882 will be the same outspoken, truth-telling, and interesting newspaper. By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall print all the news, putting it into readable shape, and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by its real interest to the people. Distance from Print House Square is not the first consideration with the Sun. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or in Bokhara.

In politics we have decided opinions; and are accustomed to express them in language that can be understood. We say what we think about men and events. That habit is the only secret of The Sun's political course. The Weekly Sun gathers into eight pages the best matter of the daily issue. An Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, full market report, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence complete The Weekly Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household ever printed.

Who does not know and read and like The Sunday Sun, each number of which is a Golconda of interesting literature, with the best poetry of the day, prose every line worth reading, news, humor—matter enough to fill a good-sized book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book—big or little.

Our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for The Sun.

Our terms are as follows:
For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 35 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents per month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid. The price of the Weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.

1808-1882. THE MISSOURI REPUBLICAN. PROSPECTUS.

This paper, usually called the St. Louis Republican, published in the great trans-Mississippi emporium, was established in 1808, whilst the now flourishing State of Missouri was a small territory and St. Louis a mere outpost, the headquarters of a few Government officers and Indian traders. Its circulation has steadily increased from a diminutive sheet, printed weekly and containing but little more than local and unimportant events, to a representative American journal, holding place in the front rank of the great newspapers of the world. Its history is the history of the West and South in all enterprises, and in all the material, political and social interests of the country. It is the exponent of the views of that class of citizens who seek to have the Government conducted upon Democratic, popular and conservative principles, and in that regard is the organ of the most intelligent and useful minds of the extensive region in which it circulates. It reaches a great majority of post-offices throughout Missouri, Illinois, Kansas, Iowa and Arkansas, and is disseminated more or less largely in every other State and Territory, besides going to all important points in Europe. Its various editions reach over one hundred thousand homes, and are read by more than a million of people. With the most complete and uniform growth, as population has increased and mail facilities expanded, its readers are the "bone and sinew" of the country, well informed and influential.

The Republican, from the care with which it is edited and conducted, the enterprise manifested in its editorial, its stories and its news, its consistency in the advocacy of principles bearing upon the prosperity and well-being of the people, has built up a circulation not to be estimated merely by its numerical strength.

The Republican is published by men chiefly who have grown up from boyhood in the business, and have made the printing of a newspaper the study of their lives. It is, therefore, impossible that any event of real importance could occur anywhere on the civilized earth and not be published in the Republican before the rising of the next sun. With the means and the purpose to publish all the news, readers of its columns will have no reason to look further for a history of the times.

To those engaged in commerce, and indeed all who buy or sell, or are concerned in what is bought and sold, the Republican will supply all necessary and desirable information so far as it can be found in the most reliable and careful condensed reports from every important trade centre and stock market in the world.

These are some of the features of a concern that is known throughout the West and South as the "Old Reliable."

Russell, by his deed of trust dated May 11th, 1875, duly recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the County of Iron and State of Missouri, in Book "U," pages 444 to 446, did convey to and
